

Bimini Big Game Club plans boat parade!

★ GUY Harvey Outpost has announced plans to inaugurate a new holiday tradition in Bimini to precede the island's traditional New Year's Junkanoo celebration.

The Bimini Big Game Club, a Guy Harvey Outpost, will host the first Annual Bimini Boat Parade and Pool Party on New Year's Eve.

The Bimini Boat Parade will start at 7:30pm at the Club's docks. Boats will sail north past Alice Town, up through Porgey Bay and then return for a down-harbour sail to the tip of south Bimini, returning to the Club docks for a New Year's Eve Pool Party with music by Mango Man, whose island and calypso sounds will continue until midnight.

Complimentary champagne toasts will cap off the Club's festivities, welcoming in the new decade, just as Junkanoo takes to the streets of Alice Town.

The parade's flagship boat will be the Club's new 60ft M/V Bimini Blue, decked out with holiday lights for the festivities. Charles "Sofely" Robins, the Bahamas Tourism manager for Bimini, will be the Grand Marshall.

And the Club will be awarding prizes for the best decorations and light display.

"What's Christmas in the islands without a boat parade," noted Grand Cay-man Island-resident Guy Harvey, the celebrated artist, marine scientist and conservation authority.

Along with a group of like-minded partners,

Harvey re-opened the historic Big Game Club following a multi-million-dollar renovation this summer.

"This year we turned the lights back on in Bimini. So, it's really time to celebrate," added Mark Ellert, President of Guy Harvey Outpost Resorts.

"There's no cost to join in. And the parade is open to anyone with a boat, big or small, resident or visitor."

Seventy-five VIP tickets have been set aside for revelers wishing to join the Grand Marshall aboard the lead boat for music, dancing and open bar.

Also included with the ticket are complimentary Fishtales and Cocktails at 5pm, followed by a pre-parade dinner in the Bimini Big Game Bar and Grill.
